

Tips for using fireworks

If not used safely, fireworks can be dangerous. Very often the most serious accidents occur when safety measures have not been adopted.

People seem to believe that using fireworks with overconfidence means to be brave. But they are wrong. Most frequently, the victims of explosions are young people between 11 and 14, while hands and eyes are the organs more often injured.

Many accidents occur the day after, because of unexploded fireworks abandoned in the streets.
